PRESIDENTS CORNER

Another year is coming to a close. The summer is over, fall is just beginning, the holidays are just around the corner, and before you know it 2009 will be here. The Rhode Island Pilots Association (RIPA) needs a few good people to lead us. Please volunteer wherever you can, whenever you can. The following positions are open: president, Vice President, Recording Secretary, and Treasurer. We are always looking for help on committees and for help at events such as the upcoming safety seminar and the holiday social in December. Contact Rene Cardon or me if you want to volunteer.

RIPA will be presenting the Airman of the Year award again this year; we have wonderful members, nominate one.

RIPA will be introducing a new fundraising event at the October meeting we'll be holding a 50/50 raffle. Buy a ticket and you could make a profit!!

I look forward to seeing you all on the 14th at the meeting and the 25th at the Harvest Party. For everyone else Happy Halloween!!

Beth

HANGAR FLYING

Weekend Flying

During the month of September there is little to report from the "Fly to Lunch Bunch". It has been a rather wet month which has limited new adventures to talk about. Some of us were able to fly on Thursday evenings to share conversation during dinner and build night competency on the way home. We have been going to Plymouth (PYM), Southbridge (3B0) and Windham (IJD) on Thursday evenings because they have restaurants that are open for dinner. FYI: Jim's Fly In Diner at 3B0 will be closing for the season on November 9th. You can always call me (days: 401-787-2338) on Thursdays for a destination if you care to join us.

Hanger Flying

My destination on Friday, September 5th, was Greenville Maine to attend the Annual Sea Plane Fly-in. Along with my trusty co-pilot, Dave Czerwonka, we launched into a nice blue sky with a 20 knot tail wind. How nice is that? Our first stop was Sanford, Maine for a bite to eat and meet up with Paul Tocco and his friend Peter. The rest of the flight was uneventful, which is a good thing for the most part. We were rather surprised to see a lack of planes at (3B1). I would guess the pending weather for Saturday and Sunday kept most of the regular folks away. Saturday morning fog didn't burn off until noon, but the afternoon was real nice, so the sea plane events could go on.

On Saturday evening the Rhode Island clan all met at Rene Cardon's house for a steak dinner with all the fixings, including a birthday cake for yours truly. I thank all who attended. I'm sure everyone had a wonderful time.

Rain moved in on Saturday night and stayed on and off until Sunday afternoon. After checking out the B52 crash site on Elephant Mountain we were able to launch for home around 3:30 Sunday afternoon and made the whole journey VFR because the weather was better to the south. This was another fine flying adventure to remember.

EXCAVATING

SAFETY SEMINAR

Date: October 18, 2008

Time: 10:00AM

Place: North Central Airport /New Hangar/Terminal

Speaker: Doug Stewart "National Certificated Flight Instructor of the Year for 2004". A Gold Seal Instructor, and Designated Pilot Examiner, he is based at the Columbia County Airport (1B1) in Hudson, NY. He writes a monthly safety/training column called "The Vintage Instructor" for "Vintage Airplane" magazine, and serves as an aviation safety counselor for both the Windsor Locks and Albany FSDOs.

Doug serves as NAFI's "Chief Flight Instructor Specialist" at Flight Instructor Headquarters at AirVenture in Oshkosh every summer.

From DSFI, Inc. - Who is Doug Stewart?

RIPA will provide coffee and treats. At lunch break, Rene Cardon will man the grill with hamburgers and hotdogs.

HANGAR FLYING

OSHKOSH

Probably the best part was we had a week without any rain! The typical Wisconsin tent eating thunderstorms bypassed OSH this year. Attendance was very good even with the high fuel prices.

I attached a picture of the Boeing Dreamliner. This is a modified 747-400 used to ferry parts for the new 787 Dreamliner. 3 dreamliners are currently in use with a 4th being modified. The tail swings

A highlight for me was attending a talk by one of the few Doolittle Tokyo Raiders that is still alive- Lt. Col. Richard E. Cole, copilot of aircraft #1. He signed my copy of "The Doolittle Raid". Howard Rowland

Listening to Oshkosh Tower transmissions on LiveATC.net last week, I overheard a controller tell an approaching seaplane:

Oshkosh Controller: "Amphib landing runway 36, the runway is dry; check for wheels down."

EVENTS

Harvest Hangar Party hosted by Gary and Gayle St Germaine at the Corporate Air hangar on Airport Road in Warwick at 6:30 Saturday October 25th. Bring a friend and/or something for the pot luck buffet if you wish, but please come.

RIPA's Holiday Gala will be held On December 13th at The "O" Club at Quonset Point. Mark your calendar and join the festivities.

NOTAMS

The Nominating Committee will be looking for new people to fill the vacant Recording Secretary's position and/or Treasurer, President, Vice President, and Corresponding Secretary positions in that order. If you would be interested or have the time, please consider helping.

BOARD MEETING

Beth Tetreault, Marilyn Biagetti, Rene Cardon and Bill Weedon met at the office. Dan Scanlon checked in by telephone.

The main topic was the upcoming Safety Seminar. It has taken some effort to finally get one scheduled in RI since the reorganization of the FFAST team. Scheduled for Saturday October 19th 9:00 am to 1:00pm, in the Landmark hangar at SFZ. Doug Stewart will be the speaker. RIPA will provide coffee and treats. At lunch break, Rene Cardon will man the grill with hamburgers and hotdogs.

No one has volunteered or been nominated to run for offices that are available. Beth will ask for nominees at the meeting. Only one AOTY nomination was made.

A small but significant victory in the fight against unreasonable "airport user charges" (FAA terminology) has been achieved at Washington Dulles International Airport. In response to a informal complaint to the FAA Eastern Regional Office filed by AOPA member and Cessna 421 owner/pilot Bill Weedon, a $75 security fee charged by Landmark Aviation has been waived (at least temporarily) and refunded, and ramp fees have been lowered. The $75 security fee, charged on top of a $17.79 landing fee and $60 ramp fee, was charged temporarily for a US Congress "Business Round Table" event, where Microsoft founder Bill Gates spoke at a congressional hearing. The other Landmark customers (including Mr. Weedon) who happened to land at IAD that day and had nothing to do with the event were charged the $75 fee. Mr. Weedon argued to the FAA that he did not directly benefit from the security fee and therefore the fee was "unfair and unreasonable". In addition, he argued that a second $60 ramp fee charged by Landmark on the same day was excessive when he had to return to IAD to pick up a cell phone that he forgot in the FBO.

Fortunately, the Metropolitan Washington Airport Authority and Landmark Aviation came to their senses, and agreed to refund the security fee and additional ramp fee, at least for the time being. They vowed to re-evaluate the security requirements to determine if the increased costs are necessary. On a subsequent visit to Landmark Aviation at Dulles, Mr. Weedon noticed that the ramp fee was lowered to $30. This kind of "pushback" by pilots is needed to counter the rapidly escalating airport user charges at many public-use airports, particularly by FBOs, which in many cases do not meet the "fair and reasonable" test, are driving up the cost of flying.
